U. F. A. HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

WELCOME HOME ANOTHER VETERAN

AGRI. CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

At the special meeting of the U F A held last Saturday a well representative crowd of the members were present. Mr. C.T. Hill gave his report of the convention held at Calgary by the United Grain Growers. After which the members spent considerable time discussing the advisability of the UFA entering in politics. The following resolution was moved and passed unanimously.

"Whereas we believe the time has arrived when the old lines of party politics are not fully meeting the needs of the people; and whereas the United Farmers Association has developed to its present state of efficiency by bringing together those of both political parties into a harmonious activity for the benefit of the community at large and has shown itself equal to unifying both parties so that now independent political action is possible. Be it therefore resolved by the Irma UFA Local No. 117 (1) That we express our belief in the principals of representation from among ourselves in the parliaments of the country. (2) That we request the organization of the farming community to make such representation possible by the calling of a district UFA convention. (3) That we urge the forming of local UFA's where districts would not at present be represented that all may have representation at any convention called to discuss the Farming Community.

Moved by C.T. Hill, seconded by G.A. Sison.

A special meeting was called for next Saturday afternoon when Mr. C. Marker, Dairy Commissioner and Mr. Jas. Clements, Ass't Live Stock Commissioner are expected to be present. These speakers have promised to be at the social given by the Co-op on Friday night and as they will have to be in town till Saturday night it was thought advisable to try and get all we could from them. They are both men of wide experience in their different branches of farm work and we have no doubt those that can make it convenient to be present at either or both meetings will find the time well spent.

Dissolving Partnership.

After a number of years business together at Irma under the firm name of Stuart & Peterson, Mr. J. W. Stuart and W.B. Peterson have decided to dissolve partnership. In order to divide the profits of the business it will be necessary to sell all their holdings. For this purpose they have advertised an auction sale for next Thursday, March 27. Everything will be sold regardless of cost or value, and this will be a good opportunity to secure some good stock or machinery. For list of articles see display ad in this paper.

Mrs. F.D. Johnston Selling Out.

In order to wind up the estate of her late husband, Mrs. F.D. Johnston has arranged with J.W. Stuart to hold an auction sale of all the stock, implements, household effects etcetera. Mrs. Johnston is renting the farm and must give up possession by the end of the month. The sale will be held on March 31st. See ad in other column.

The U.F.W.A. will meet at the home of Mrs. P.J. Hardy Saturday April 5th, when a paper will be read on Child Welfare. All members are requested to be present.

U. F. A. HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

AGRI. CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

Saturday night another Irma veteran returned. A large crowd was at the depot to welcome back to Irma one of the five Mildon boys who enlisted soon after the war was declared. Two of his brothers, Bronson and Jas. W., were killed in action and the other two are still with their Battalion in France or England. Corporal Mildon crossed the Atlantic on the S.S. Toloa with about 250 Canadians who had served with the Imperial Army many of whom had been right through the war, they reached Winnipeg Thursday evening. On the same boat was a number of Americans who had trouble with the authorities after the Canadians trouble broke out. There was a big crowd to meet the train at Winnipeg to welcome the returning veterans. A guard of honor was formed by the Fort Garrys. The depot band turned out and as the returned men made their appearance struck up lively music.

One death occurred at sea, that of an American soldier. As he died, however, just a few hours from port, the body was brought ashore, instead of being buried in the deep. The dead soldier belonged to Minneapolis. Mr. Milton has not decided just what he will do when he discards the khaki but we hope he will find an opening in the Irma district among his old friends.

Died.

The funeral of Marjory Violet Love, aged 17, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Sagieon, whose death occurred on Wednesday, March 12th, from influenza after a week's illness was held from the family residence on Friday, March 14th at 3.30 p.m. Interment took place at the Edmonton cemetery. Rev. Mr. Lloyd of Wesley church conducted the service.—Edmonton Bulletin.

Adds to Herd.

When W. H. King was in Calgary attending the fair convention he journeyed on to Strathmore to the C.P.R. demonstration farm and secured a sire to head his herd of Holsteins. Strathmore Canary Posch No. 37073. The bull's dam R. P. two years old was 11570 lbs milk and 486.25 lbs butter, and dam of sire Noni Canary No. 23205 yearly record at two years old 10844 lbs milk and 598.75 lbs butter. Testing average percent of fat 4.41.

Special Railway Fare To Edmonton.

A rate of fare-and-a-third will be in force for the Edmonton Spring Live Stock Show, good leaving here on March 31st, up to April 4th, and good returning up to April 7th. A good many have made arrangements to take in this event, which always attracts lovers of good live stock, but will this year have many other drawing features. In addition to the showing of horses, ponies, sheep, swine and fat stock, the calf feeding competition for children will this year have more entries than ever. To provide variety on the program there will be a parade of decorated automobiles one night, another evening a fancy dress carnival ride will be put on by ladies and gentlemen competing for prizes, the Mendelssohn choir, 100 voices strong, will give choruses on two evenings, football matches are being arranged for; an exhibition of riding and roping will be given by genuine cowboys. The Edmonton Live Stock Show will this year be officially opened on Tuesday evening, April 1, by Miss E. Hind of Winnipeg, who is such an authority on crop and live stock matters that her reports are accepted everywhere in North America.

Takes Charge of Garage.

Hardy and Dickson have engaged Corp. W.L. Mildon to take charge of their garage. Before enlisting Mr. Mildon spent several years in auto repair work in Edmonton, and while in the army he has been working at the same kind of work. He will start in his new position about April 1st. The local agents for the Chevrolet are to be congratulated on securing such a man to take charge of their garage.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. M.T. Knudson, on Wednesday a week ago perpetrated a surprise upon them. A large number were present to spend the evening. Games and cards occupied the pleasant hours, and an excellent lunch was served at midnight. This is apparently, per rumor, only one of many of such gatherings which will take place during the following weeks, our people appreciating a friendly visit and unexpected gatherings with our neighbors for acquaintance sake.

On Tuesday evening of this week Messrs Kasten Bros. entertained a representative gathering of the young people of town and country at their home. The evening was spent in tripping the light fantastic and was thoroughly enjoyed by those having the privilege of being present, a fact to which we can personally testify. Lunch was served at midnight by the ladies, assisted by the capable hosts, and the gathering broke up in the early hours of the morning, voting the evening a royal one.

VIKING

The St. Patrick's dance Monday evening was a hummer and as anticipated a large crowd turned out to honor the day of the patron saint.

The evening got under way to a good start with a grand march led by Tone Mackey and Mrs. J.L. Slavik after which a program of dances kept the crowd well entertained.

The hall was prettily decorated in the favorite color of Ireland and large streamers spread messages of cheer and welcome to everybody. A refreshment booth operated by ladies of the Society assisted by some of the men catered to the palates of all and was full of many good things to eat and drink.

Supper was served at midnight, cafeteria style, and there was a rush for the cuts. After lunch prize waltzes for the married and single couples were danced. In the competition for the married folks, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Jones were awarded the prizes for being the best waltzers and in the singles, Miss Malone and H.G. Thunell carried off the honors.

Miss Mildred Dodd was the holder of the lucky number in the raffle of the beautiful centre piece, and Mrs. A.S. Streit winner of the cushion.

The music was of the best Barker brand, Mr. and Mrs. Barker being assisted by Q.M. Serg. H.B. Stevens of Edmonton, at the piano. The dance broke up about 3 A.M. with the singing of the national anthem.

The St. Patrick Society are to be congratulated on the success of the affair.

Profit Sharing

A wide breach between Capital and Labor exists throughout the industrial world in all nations, and despite all the sincere efforts being made by governments, employers and employees, the breach seems to be widening. During the war, in the face of a dire peril threatening all classes and all nations, Capital and Labor joined forces and by splendid co-operative, patriotic effort accomplished great things and proved an essential factor in achieving victory. Now that victory over the common enemy has been won, and the military and naval struggle in Europe ended, there appears to be grave danger that an industrial war will follow within the nations.

Speaking generally, Capital realizes that social and industrial conditions and relationships between employer and employee as they existed prior to the war cannot be continued. Wages cannot drop to their pre-war level; hours of labor will inevitably be shortened; working, housing and social conditions in general must be bettered. Capital appreciates these facts and is prepared to meet them to a very large extent. Capital contends, however, that this social revolution cannot be successfully brought about in a week, or a month, or even a year. With all the goodwill in the world it will take time to work out this evolution if Capital is not to be ruthlessly destroyed and industrial activity reduced to a state of chaos.

Labor, on the other hand, suspicious of Capital and fearful of the permanent loss of rights and privileges which the workers voluntarily surrendered during the war, is impatient at delay and demands immediate action. Most of the responsible leaders of organized labor recognize that Capital has a huge task ahead of it in transforming industry from a war to a peace basis; that the financial world is unsettled; and that it is impossible for Capital to grant all Labor's demands at once. But the great body of workers do not, or will not, see this, and the regrettable tendency is everywhere evident for the workers to break away from and disregard their own leaders.

What is clearly needed is the creation of a feeling of mutual confidence between these two parties; the evolution of a plan which will satisfy both that neither is trying to take advantage of the other. It is urged in many quarters that this can be established by the inauguration of profit-sharing policies. Workers are now insistently demanding that they be given a larger share of the wealth produced by their labor. Capital and Labor are, in reality, partners in industry. Neither can get on without the other. But Labor holds, and with some justice, that in the past Capital has received the major portion of the profits resulting from the partnership. Their labor, they claim, is not merely a commodity to sell, but something which, like Capital, has a right to its fair share of the wealth resulting from the combined use of Capital and Labor. Labor gets a share of the profits of industry.

Profit-sharing policies are now being tried out in Great Britain, United States and Canada. A few days ago, on the occasion of the twenty-first anniversary of the business, the Robert Simpson Co., of Toronto, announced the inauguration of profit-sharing with its large army of employees. One of the large industrial concerns in the United States, employing about 10,000 hands, has adopted a novel profit-sharing policy. The Company's plan provides: "That after present capital and permanent labor have each been justly compensated, having due regard to the cost of each (the cost of capital and the cost of living) then the additional profits accruing from the joint employment of permanent capital and permanent labor shall be divided equally among them—fifty fifty." Individual and departmental efficiency is to be rewarded, and there is to be increasing reward for continuous service, but these rewards are to have no influence upon the periodical wage readjustments.

Commenting on this scheme, a prominent and influential United States paper regards it as likely to provide a basis for the adjustment of the entire labor question, and says: "It is one of the complaints of Capital that the demands of Labor organizations are often unjust, and are investigated, for the most part, by labor leaders whose occupations depend upon things being upset in the industrial world. At the same time it is known that there are frequent cases in which strikes occur in direct opposition to the advice of labor leaders.

Whatever merit the argument may have, it is obvious that if Labor were satisfied with conditions, no amount of agitation, on the part of anyone, would be likely to bring about strikes. If, for example, the workers were to see that it was to their personal interest that the concern by which they were employed should turn out the largest amount of products, and the best made goods that could be produced, they would probably give little heed to the plan for a shorter working day. It is generally agreed that strikes are tremendously costly. If afforded an opportunity to participate in the prosperity of their employers, it seems altogether likely that employers would see the justice in taking also their share of possible losses.

The elimination of suspicion and schism would go a long distance toward bringing about a better understanding between Capital and Labor, and a step toward that end seems to be the first one to take."

Alberta's Industrial Importance
Dependent on agricultural development, Alberta's industry is steadily assuming substantial importance. Last year the total amount of the payrolls of the province was approximately $37,000,000. From her coal mines the payroll is approximately $14,000,000 a year, from her railways $12,000,000, and from her other industries, exclusive of farming, $11,000,000. There are some 1,200 industries in the province, not counting railways, and mines.

What is clearly needed is the creation of a feeling of mutual confidence between these two parties; the evolution of a plan which will satisfy both that neither is trying to take advantage of the other. It is urged in many quarters that this can be established by the inauguration of profit-sharing policies. Workers are now insistently demanding that they be given a larger share of the wealth produced by their labor. Capital and Labor are, in reality, partners in industry. Neither can get on without the other. But Labor holds, and with some justice, that in the past Capital has received the major portion of the profits resulting from the partnership. Their labor, they claim, is not merely a commodity to sell, but something which, like Capital, has a right to its fair share of the wealth resulting from the combined use of

Catarrh ozone

CURES WITHOUT DRUGS

One of the finest discoveries in medicine was given to the public when "Catarrh ozone" was placed on the market about fifteen years ago. This discovery has been a cure for asthma and catarrh. An interesting case is reported from Calgary in a letter from Crichton E. Thomas, who says:

"The most strong can be said for Catarrh ozone. I suffered four years from asthma in a way that would baffle descriptions. I went through everything that man could suggest. My doctor said I could not purchase a dollar package. I was worth hundreds to me in a week, and I place a priceless value on the benefit I have derived. I strongly urge every sufferer to use Catarrh ozone for Asthma, Bronchitis, and Catarrh."

The one-dollar package lasts two months, small size, 50c; sample size, 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or the Catarrh ozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Increased Acreage Under Wheat
Regina, Sask.—There is every prospect that there will be an increased acreage sown to grain in the Regina district this year. Major Compton, manager of the Sterling Bank of Canada, is of the opinion that the increased acreage under wheat in the territory tributary to Regina will be in the neighborhood of 20 per cent. in excess of that sown to wheat last year.

Never Troubled
With Headache

This Relief From Suffering Fully Appreciated by the Writer of This Letter—Tells Others How Cure Was Effectuated

South Fork, Sask., March 25—Mrs. Letts of this place has a happy experience to relate. She suffered terribly with headache for a number of years, and nothing seemed to help her. The trouble came from torpid, sluggish action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and when this condition was overcome by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the headaches disappeared, and Mrs. Letts felt that her health was greatly improved.

Mrs. A. F. Letts, South Fork, Sask., writes:

"I suffered from terrible headaches, so severe I thought sometimes I would go crazy from them. I remedies I ever tried helped me until I took Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since using these I have never been troubled with headache now, and feel much better generally. This statement is endorsed by Dr. O. Cole, Postmaster at South Fork.

Mrs. F. L. Harris, Keweenaw, P. O., Sask., writes:

"I suffered from liver trouble—had a heavy pain under one shoulder-blade all the time, and was nearly as black as dirt around the eyes, so I concluded to try some Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I took a dose, and before I had taken a 25c box the pain had left me. I commenced to gain in flesh, and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and felt like a new person. My headaches caused by heavy work out of doors, and, of course, heavy eating, and constipation. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney or Liver trouble to give Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto, Rufus substitutes. The genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the label.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR MARCH 23—ISAIAH WARNED AGAINST COMPROMISE

Joshua, knowing that his life was drawing to a close, summoned the leaders of Israel to appear before him. He knew the tendencies which the nation was developing and the peril which faced it as its leadership was coming to an end. His jealousy for God and solicitude for them prompted him to assemble them and point out the great dangers which confronted them.

I. A Review of What God Had Done (23:2, 4).

I. God had fought Israel's battles (v. 3). He gave them victory over the strong nations which inhabited Canaan. Striking evidences of this are the capture of Jericho and victory at Gibon, when the sun stood still at Joshua's command. This victory had been secured quickly, which indicates that God had interposed in their behalf.

2. God by the hand of Joshua had apportioned the land among the tribes (v. 4) for an inheritance. In chapter 24 Joshua rehearses the wonderful things God had done for the nation extending from Abraham down through the ages.

2. Points out the Promises as yet Unfulfilled (23:5-10).

1. "He shall expel them before you" (v. 5). The actual possession which God had given was the pledge that he would give them full possession. God's promise was the guarantee of this. In view of God's faithful performance of all his promises there should be no room for doubt.

2. "One man of you shall chase a thousand" (v. 10). The reason of this was because the Lord God would fight for them. To have the Lord fight for us is to have the assurance of victory regardless of how few or how many.

3. The condition upon which these promises would be realized (1) "These very courageous" (v. 6). At a time like this our required courage to look to God for all the nation's needs. (2) "Keep and do all that is written in the law of Moses" (v. 6). Fidelity to God's law was essential. Turning aside in any particular would forfeit their claims upon him. (3) "Keep aloof from the Canaanites" (v. 7). This separation was to obtain with reference to (a) marriage among them; (b) idolatrous customs. (4) Cleave wholly unto God (v. 8).

3. Solemn Warnings Issued (23:11-16).

1. Take good heed that you love God sincerely (v. 11). Love to God is the sum total of duty toward him.

2. Refrain from intermarriage among the Canaanites (v. 12). For God's people to intermarry among the heathen is to set in motion influences which would issue in confusion and disaster.

3. God will make the heather snare, traps and scourges instead of victory over them (v. 13).

4. Evil things will come upon them just as good things had been done for them even to their destruction (v. 15).

5. The wrath of God kindled against them (v. 16).

Manitoba's Surplus

In presenting his annual budget before the provincial legislature at Winnipeg, the Hon. Edward Brown claimed that the province had a revenue surplus of $32,876 on hand in cash. Manitobans possess $44,000,000 in Victory bonds, which means that every man, woman and child in the province has produced for the nation $140. The amount subscribed, added to patriotic contributions, totalled $4,000,000, Mr. Brown said.

TEETHING TROUBLES

Baby's teething time is a time of worry for most mothers. Baby's little gums become swollen and tender, his bowels get out of order and constipation, colic or even diarrhea sets in. To make the teething period easy babies' Tablets should be given between the little ones to soothe the stomach; regulate the bowels and keep baby good natured. Concerning them Mrs. Marcelle D. Blane, Memramcook, West, N.B., writes: "I have given Dr. Williams' Tablets to my baby for the past six years and have found them indispensable. To my mind nothing can equal them in allaying the fever accompanying teething. I would not live without them and can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medical Co., Brockville, Ont.

Freedom Sought By the Koreans

Seoul. — The declaration of Korea's independence says it represents the voice of twenty-million persons speaking in the name of justice and humanity.

"We are no mean people," the delegation continues. "We have 43 centuries of history as a distinct self-governing nation. It is our solemn duty to secure the right of free and perpetual development of our own national character, adapting ourselves to the principles of the reconstruction of the world."

"It is nearly ten years since, for the first time in our history, we put on the yoke of another nation and were made the victim of the curse of the most imperialistic system in the world."

The declaration continues that it is the duty of Koreans to secure their independence, wipe out injuries, get rid of present sufferings and "stir up the national spirit and vitality so long suppressed by the unjust regime of Japan, and leave our children eternal freedom, instead of a bitter and shameful inheritance. We shall fight to the last drop of blood in the cause of liberty."

Plan Has Failed

France Gives Up Idea of Pooling War Debts

Paris. — France has abandoned, for the present at least, any hope of having her great war debts shared by the allies. It is authoritatively asserted by one of the Americans attending the conference that what had been an embarrassing possibility, had now been definitely eliminated from the deliberations; although it is possible that France might at some future time attempt to secure assistance.

The project has never been formally presented at the conference but conversations held at intervals since the conference began have served as a medium for the presentation of the French point of view.

The British and United States delegations have been quite frank in their dispute, and have openly said the people of their countries would be slow to endorse such a plan.

Decisions Becoming Known

Military Conditions for Germans Given Out in Instalments

London. — The personnel of the German fleet is to be restricted to fifteen thousand, the supreme council has decided, according to press despatches from Paris.

The military conditions to be imposed on Germany includes guarantees that no tanks will be built and no more poison gas manufactured and that all German war material must be handed over and destroyed. It is added that allied commissions will supervise the carrying out of these conditions.

When the Germans are summoned to Paris, the Evening News says, the treaty will be read to them and they will be invited to sign it. There will be no discussion with a view to alterations of the principal articles of the treaty. If it is thought necessary, questions involving the adjustment of details will be referred to a special commission.

German Delegates Go to Brussels

Copenhagen. — The German delegates are going to Brussels to learn the decision of the allies concerning the turning over of the German mercantile fleet and the conditions of the food supply that is to be given Germany in return.

Weimar. — Under secretary Braun, speaking of the armistice negotiations at Spa, said:

"We consider the rupture of the Spa meetings simply a measure permitting the opposition delegates to demand fresh instructions from their governments. Our situation is serious, not desperate. Fresh negotiations will come."

Hun Delegates Must Stay at Versailles

Paris. — When the time for the signing of peace arrives, it is understood Germany's representatives will be housed in one of the palaces at Versailles and will not be permitted to enter Paris, as the French government does not care to undertake to afford protection to Germans in Paris.

Food for Polanders

Paris. — The food relief of Poland is proceeding smoothly, according to Herbert Hoover, in spite of the fact that the risk is too great to send trans-Atlantic steamers all the way to Danzig owing to the Baltic not being free of mines. A large proportion of the food is being discharged at Rotterdam and Copenhagen, and is then transported in smaller craft to Danzig.

Dreadnoughts Not Being Constructed

Great Britain Abandons Work On Those Partially Completed

London. — Replying to a question in the house of commons, Thomas J. MacNamara, parliamentary secretary to the admiralty, said that no dreadnought battleships were under construction on Dec. 31 last.

He added that four dreadnought battle cruisers were under construction on that date; that work on three, which were in very early stages, had been abandoned and the slips upon which they were being built had been freed for merchant ship construction. On the same date, he said, Great Britain had 33 dreadnought battleships, including nine dreadnought battle cruisers, all of which were in commission, with exception of one battleship and one battle cruiser. So far as he knew no capital ships will be laid down this year.

Australian Trade with Canada

Two New Freighters Being Constructed for This Service

Vancouver. — Mr. Charles Holdsworth, managing director of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, who has arrived here to take passage home on the steamship Niagara, after spending two years in England, announced that the company not only intended to replace all the ships lost during the war, but also to add another mail ship, faster and bigger than the Niagara, to run between here and New Zealand and Australia. He said the company was looking for the development of a great Australian trade with Canada and the United States. Two new freighters of 9,000 tons each are being constructed for this service, and will be completed by the end of March. Negotiations are also in progress for the purchase of three other cargo ships for delivery four months hence.

Have Themselves to Thank

Huns Created Situation in Regard to Shipping

London. — Control of the German shipping is a necessary condition to the feeding of the German people and the Germans have made that situation, declares the Westminster Gazette in discussing the break in the shipping negotiations at Spa. Again and again during the last two years the paper adds, it has pointed out to them the destruction of merchant tonnage by their ruthless submarine warfare would produce a situation in which it might be totally impossible to supply Germany herself with the food and raw materials which she would need when the war ended.

This is the often predicted nemesis of ruthless submarine warfare. If the allies are unable, from lack of tonnage, to send sufficient coal and food to their friends, the use of German tonnage will enable them to do justice to their friends and at the same time provide for their enemies, but we are obliged to tell the Germans that this is the only way, and if it seems, harsh and repugnant to them, they have themselves to thank for it.

While the German signatories will not actually be prisoners and must not be treated as such, public sentiment against Germany is so high in Paris that the French government is unwilling to risk unpleasant incidents which might occur were the official German representatives to appear publicly.

Indemnity Bills Presented

Amounts Claimed Cannot Yet Be Made Public

Paris. — All the belligerent nations have presented their bills for indemnity to the commission, except France.

The amounts claimed by the various nations from Germany cannot yet be made public, the commission reserving to itself the right to give out the figures. It can be stated, however, that Belgium's demand totals between thirty billion and forty billion francs—twenty billion francs for actual physical destruction and the balance for thefts, unpaid-for requisitions, seizures and the like. This is the largest figure claimed by any of the belligerents with the exception of France.

British Army of Occupation

London. — The government announced in the house of commons that the total strength of effective and non-effective British troops in the armies of occupation in all theatres of war amounted to 902,000 men, including officers. The strength of the British army in France, Belgium and Germany, including Dominion troops, on February 1, was 1,324,106. It was stated that 197,000 German prisoners are being fed by the British commissionary department.

Orientals Start Run on Bank

Police Reserves Were Called to Handle Crowds

Vancouver. — A scene closely resembling one of the panicky days during hard times was enacted here when a run was started on a Japanese bank in which Hindus as well as Orientals had money deposited when rumors of alleged insolventy of the bank started at a shingle mill employing Asiatics and shortly after the noon hour, a wildly disheveled mob made its way to the bank in an automobile, presented their deposit books and demanded their savings.

From this incident rumors spread until there was a great crowd of Orientals demanding their money. Police reserves were called in to quell what had the appearance of a near riot. Consul Utika was appealed to and in a short time two automobiles of crisp bills were on their way to the bank from another bank and were soon arrayed in plain sight. Consul Utika addressed the crowd many of them redepositing their money before leaving the bank. The greatest number of withdrawals, however, were made by Hindus, who took their bills away with them. Several shingle mills were sadly crippled for help during the afternoon when their Asiatic employees made a wild dash for the bank.

Labor Troubles Now In Ireland

Reds Plunder City

London. — A Copenhagen dispatch says that the nature of the fighting between government troops and Spartac bands in the eastern suburbs of Berlin seems to indicate that local Spartac groups have been formed for "no other purpose than to plunder the city." An Amsterdam message says that a Spartac adherent was captured and in his possession were found jewels valued at 800,000 marks. The message adds that the man was executed.

Eight Hour Day for Spanish Workers

Madrid. — The Spanish cabinet decided to grant an eight-hour working day to the building trades throughout Spain, wages to be fixed by committees of employers and workmen in each district. The cabinet also approved a bill to insure workers against unemployment.

London. — Especial prominence is given by the Mail to a Dublin dispatch representing the situation in Ireland as being extremely bad and maintaining that the need of effective self-government is more urgent than ever before.

"Now that the Sinn Fein members of the house of commons have been released," the dispatch says, "there will be a new assembly of the Irish parliament which will probably be a very troublous affair without an authoritative administration to balance its activities. Labor troubles of greatest import are growing, and it is impossible for the British government to handle them. There is hardly a section of Irish labor which is not preparing or threatening to strike for demands which no employer can possibly grant."

"The well intentioned schemes of General Viscount French, lord-lieutenant for social and industrial improvement, have gone by the board, and there is a dangerous situation which can be handled only by an Irish parliament."

Assassination Was Deliberate Plot

Vienna Court Wished to Get Rid of Archduke Ferdinand

Berne. — Charges that the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg at Sarajevo on June 28, 1914, was the result of a deliberate plot, by the late Count Tisza, former Hungarian premier, are made in a pamphlet written by a priest who was the spiritual adviser of the Duchess of Hohenberg, according to a Vienna dispatch to the Frankfort Gazette. The pamphlet entitled "The Sarajevo Murder and Count Tisza's responsibility for the World War," is said to have made a profound impression in Austria.

It is declared that Francis Ferdinand repeatedly refused to go to Sarajevo and it was only an appeal to his courage that induced him to make the trip.

"The most elementary precautions were omitted," it is stated by the priest. "He was simply led into a trap prepared by the court at Vienna and by the Hungarian aristocracy, headed by Count Tisza."

The general idea of the pamphlet is that Magyar magnates with the consent of the Vienna court wished to get rid of the archduke, who was extremely disliked, and obtain vengeance for the murder at the expense of the Jugo-Slavs, who would be made helpless. It is pointed out that no "proper" enquiry was ever made into the tragedy, and that no one was made responsible for the fact that precautionary measures were not taken.

North Pole Route Proved a Failure

Explorer and Men Landed Near Starting Point

Dawson. — Storkerson, explorer, and his few men who landed on an Arctic ice floe last year, expecting to float toward Siberia, have landed near the mouth of the Colville river, Alaska, not far from Baker's Land, where they started, according to word brought here by the Royal North West Mounted Police.

The party established a camp in March, 1918, on an ice floe, thirty miles long, seven miles wide, and from fifty to one hundred feet thick. On this they drifted one hundred miles west, seventy miles north, and fifty miles east, according to reports. They landed November 7, 1918. While on the floe they subsisted on polar bears and seals.

Storkerson is reported to be on his way to Ottawa.

The Power of a Ten Dollar Bill

Consider the power of a Ten Dollar Bill when it is spent at home. It is like magic. It circulates. It pays off a hundred obligations. It creates business and puts people to work in our community. But the ten dollar bill that is sent away to the out-of-town house does nothing for our town. It becomes dead to us. It is out of commission forever as far as our town is concerned. We never see it again. Let us, then, give power to the money we spend. Let us remember that our best investment is that power-money that we spend at home.

People to Decide

Government of Alsace Left to Inhabitants

Strassburg. — A council of Alsace-Lorraine at a meeting here has adopted a plan for the re-organization of the administration of the two provinces, according to the wish of the inhabitants. A French high commissioner, with headquarters in Strasbourg, will centralize all French service under his authority and will act for the French minister of war in matters which now have to be referred to Paris.

A number of members of the council of Alsace-Lorraine will assist the commissioner as a permanent consultative commission.

The council adopted a resolution insisting upon the necessity of hastening the elimination of all German elements from the public service.

Is Ex-Czar Dead?

New York. — Bernard Naumberg, a lawyer, was named by Supreme Court Justice Benedict in Brooklyn as a committee of one to ascertain whether Nicholas Romanoff, former czar of Russia is dead or alive, or if dead, who is next of kin.

Mr. Naumberg is eagerly looking for someone who can solve the riddle for him, for on its solution rests the collectability or non-collectability of a $117,450 judgment which Mr. Naumberg recently obtained against Mr. Romanoff on behalf of the Marine Transportation Service Corporation.

Boundary Dispute Settled

Silesian Troops Aid Russia

Basel. — Silesian troops, acting in agreement with the central soldiers' council, have occupied the public buildings of Breslau, according to advice from that city. This action was taken owing to the discovery that Spartac leaders were arriving in Breslau from Berlin with the purpose of occupying the buildings and delivering the town to pillage.

Aerial Terms Settled

Paris. — The supreme council discussed the aerial terms to be imposed on Germany in the peace preliminaries, according to official announcement.

The articles drafted by the military experts were examined and adopted.

Switzerland has already replied favorably to the suggestion. No South American governments have yet answered.

A strong sentiment is developing in high quarters of the conference towards making Geneva the official seat of the League of Nations. Several of the heads of the delegations, who have been consulted, have given their approval.

Premier Stewart Endorses WSS Thrift

Hon. Charles Stewart, premier of Alberta, is another of the provincial premiers to get right behind the War Savings campaign. In a recent statement he says:

"One of the greatest lessons taught by the war to all classes of people should be the great necessity of thrift. In the West, where the war marked the close of our so-called boom times and the period of readjustment brought hardship to many classes of people, the necessity of thrift should be thoroughly imbedded in the minds of our people."

"The War Savings Stamp system is a method which, to my mind, should promote that object to a very large degree. To inculcate the habit of investing spare change, instead of spending it uselessly, is to aid greatly in promoting thrift and also to aid conservation of the national wealth."

"These two things are very desirable, especially in this time of reconstruction, and I heartily commend it to the people of this province."

If you know of any men who are likely to return, kindly let some of the members of the Repatriation Committee know so a proper reception can be given them when they land. The members of the Committee are H. W. Love, C. G. Hookin, R. J. Tate, W. B. Peterson and C. J. Knudson.

"Sir, the Sheriff's got a man in jail down in the village who doesn't want to get out."

"Who is he?"

"He's a bigamist!"

Who Was It?

The kindergarten had been studying the wind all week—its power, effects, etc.—until the subject had been pretty well exhausted. To stimulate interest the kindergarten said, in her most enthusiastic manner, "Children, as I came to school to-day in the trolley car the door opened and something came softly in and kissed me on the cheek. What do you think it was?"

And the children joyfully answered, "The conductor!"

An Ounce of Prevention

Dr. Brown was a phlegmatic man who usually took his own time at answering even urgent calls, but one day he hustled around in a great hurry.

"Mrs. Weaver has sent for me to come and see her boy, and I must go at once," he said.

"What is the matter with the boy?" asked the doctor's wife.

"I don't know," he said, "but Mrs. Weaver has a book on 'What to Do Before the Doctor Comes,' and I must hurry up before she does it."

A Bear's Capacity

A visitor to a Sunday School was asked to address a few remarks to the children. He took the familiar theme of the children who mocked Elihu on his journey to Bethel—how the young ones taunted the prophet, and how they were punished when two she-bears came out of the wood and ate forty-and-two of them.

"And now, children," said he, "what does this story show?"

"Please, sir," came from a little girl in the front row, "it shows many children two she-bears can hold!"

Scratching Did It

Fat had returned on seven days' leave from the firing line, and was relating his experiences round the fire one night. "The enemy was creeping up in their thousands, and Ol was simply itching to get at them."

"And what did you do?" asked his father.

"Oh, Ol just scratched myself," replied Fat.

The "Canny" Scot

A Scotchman visiting in America stood gazing at a fine statue of George Washington, when an American approached.

"That was a great and good man, Sandy," said the American; "a lie never passed his lips."

"Well," said the Scot, "I praysome he talked through his nose like the rest of ye."

Wholesale Aspirations

"When I was a boy," said the gray-haired physician, who happened to be in a reminiscent mood, "I wanted to be a soldier, but my parents persuaded me to study medicine."

"Oh, well," rejoined the sympathetic druggist, "such is life. Many a man with wholesale aspirations has contented himself with a retail business."

History Repeated

"Dad, you remind me of the Zappa in L. 90."

"Explain yourself, sir!"

"Why, weren't you both brought down on the last night?"

Little Henry (five years old) saw a large picture of George Washington for the first time in his life.

"Mamma, who's that?" he asked.

"That's George Washington, Henry."

"Who's he, mamma?"

"He was a man who always told the truth—to his teacher, to his papa and his mamma, he never told a lie."

"What was the master wiy him?" queried Henry, in wide-eyed amazement.

"Couldn't he talk?"

"After being mayor of this town for seven straight terms the Hon. Tobe Sagg has resigned," stated a citizen of Grudge. He says he can't stand the kicks and cussings of the people."

THE HAPPY FARMER, BY WALT MASON

The farmer drives his team to a field and whistles gaily as he goes; thus have a thousand poets spied, who were not wise to farmers woes.

I've seen all kinds of farmers go afielid in grouchy discontent, but ne'er a granger did I know who whistled gaily as he went.

The rustic groves are fine as silk, as lovely as the lave allows; the farmer has to go and milk some twenty-seven swaybacked cows. And so he doesn't care a hoot for all the lovely things in sight; he has to give the hogs their soup, and chores around thru all the night. I use to farm when I was young, and was so busy pruning trees, I didn't hear the birds give tongue to most entrancing melodies. I didn't note if skies were gray, or a most alluring blue, for I was busy pitching hay and shelling corn, the long day thru.

No doubt the summer dawn was fine; I didn't mark its hue of gold, for I was chasing errant swine, and running miles into the fold. No doubt the sun was gorgeous then; I had no time for solar gods, for I was hunting some old hen that had her nest out in the woods.

I read the rhapsodies of bards about the charming rural life, and I am loaded to the guards with fierce desires for war and strife. For I have labored on the farm, and I would give a million bones if they'd identify the charms they sing about in ringing tones.

No doubt the soft and gentle breeze should make the farmer smile and sing, but he is rounding up his bees, which never miss a chance to sting. The sunlight on the verdant plain should give his soul repose, but he is hiking down the lane to shoot a flock of crows.

I've seen a thousand farmer boys go to the field on labor bent; not one was bragging of his joys, nor one was whistling as he went.

One of our young fellows here says he might get married if he was sure that we would give the affair a good write-up, so we have written up the following sample of the prospective event. (However in making up the forms the printer got the item mixed up with an auction sale and in the hurry of going to press we haven't had time to change it so it will have to go just as it is.)

William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Smith, and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east, in the presence of seventy guests including two mules and twelve head of cattle. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot for the parties averaging 1250 pounds on the hoof. The beautiful home of the bride was decorated with a sulky hay rake, a feed grinder and two sets of work harness, nearly new, and just before the ceremony was pronounced the Mendel and Sons wedding march was rendered by an old mule ten years old, one Jersey cow and one sheep, who carried a bunch of bride's roses in her hands and was very beautiful.

She wore one light spring wagon, two crates of onions, three racks of hay, a grindstone of Moueline de soi and trimmings with about a hundred bushels of spuds. The bridal couple left yesterday on an extended trip. Terms, spot cash.

A Good Farm

IS WORTH GOOD BUILDINGS

Any farm is good that provides a living for the family. Comfortable buildings help to make a poor farm good and a good farm better.

Even the land that has been ruined and "turned to the Lord" may be brought back to life by the skill of live stock; but first you must have buildings and fences to make the live stock comfortable.

Each farm is still a building or two, and most farms need more fencing. Fences for range, health and pasture, barns and stables for storage and winter feeding.

If animals require all their feed to keep them alive and warm, then the grain is being burned for fuel, while the animals are marking time. Time may not be the life of an object to the animal, but it is to the owner.

THE GUARDED TRUST BY MONA DUNLOP

After a few preliminary greetings, he asked: "Can you skat?" Miss de Roelafort said: "Yes."

"Rather," she answered. "I simply love it. Why?"

"Well, I've just had a note from old Rodgers," he replied. "You know him don't you? He says he's given us all that property at the back of the village—his grounds adjoin Castlemore Hall—and he says that one of his ponds is bearing, and wants to know if we can go down there and have a look. Do you think it's safe? I don't think it could possibly hurt you if it didn't care for it. Not for long, you know, but just until you begin to feel tired. What do you say?"

"Would I? I'd surely love it," she answered. "But I haven't any skates, unless Marie could find mine at the Hall. We spent the Christmas before last we came here in Switzerland, and I had a perfectly ripping pair of skates there. Could you find them?"

"Oui, mademoiselle," the maid answered. "I think I put them in a big chest in the cellar. Suppose we go and look while the doctor is doing his rounds?"

"Yes, do let's!" cried the girl, all excitement, "and perhaps we could find some of my skating shorts, too! All I've got are rather faded and certainly too narrow. We'd better start at once."

"I'm afraid there's no hurry," he said regretfully. "What's not to do now? I have to come along with you to Mr. Rodgers, because I know I can't possibly be free till after lunch, but if I start off now I can be ready by about two o'clock at the latest," and so saying he led the way to his breakfast, and raced off to get his rounds finished in record time.

Viola presented herself at lunch in an entrancing short green skirt, and white jersey top, while he goggled at her golden chestnut hair. A pair of boots, adorned with quite the latest thing in skates, were warming at the fire, and the girl seemed to be bubbling over with health and spirit.

Before he entered the dining room Anthony had seen Marie and asked her if the visit to Castlemore Hall had awakened any memories in her mind.

"Yes," she answered, "she kept saying as we went from one room to another, 'Oh, I remember this,' but when I took her to her room she remarked that she looks different somehow, but she made no reference at all to the past."

"I was afraid so," the doctor said, "though I had been hoping that the sight of the place she used to occupy with her sister might have awoken some new memories."

The afternoon seemed even more perfect than the morning, for the east part of it was glorified by a golden light which shone down gaudily on the splendid sheet of ice in Squire Rodgers' park. There were not very many people skating there, for the square only allowed those whom he specially invited—village folk, wishing to keep the ice intact, and unmet by the villagers, who would have made slides and thrown stones over its smooth surface, utterly spoiling it for skating, like figures skating. And Castlemore was privileged to see an exhibition of that art, the like of which it had never looked upon before. They had seen Anthony skating the previous year, and had greatly admired his skill and勇猛。The best was Viola, equal to him as good as he, and together they waltzed and did combined figures to perfection.

She was a really good skater, graceful and unconscious, utterly without fear or nervousness, and with Anthony's hands holding her up, she pronounced herself equal to venturing alone and more than half hour after the end of the waltz spectators and aroused feelings of envy in the other skaters with Q's and vines and mohawks and a thousand other things.

Anthony, however, said that she would be tiring herself beyond her strength, suggested a rest on the bank, where the Squire's hospitable wife was dispensing hot tea and coffee. But he did not seem destined to be disappointed in his guess, for a quiet talk with Viola for almost every soul present rushed up to be introduced to the mysterious heroine for inspection, trained, and in sheer self-defense she had to take to the ice once more.

By this time the sun was setting, hardly red above the frosted trees, reflecting its fiery vivid hues in the dark, almost transparent ice, for Anthony, warned by the sudden chill in the air, realized that Viola would soon have to be taken home.

Then he saw his chance for snatching a few moments with her, and enough to say what was burning in his heart. At one end, the pond narrowed abruptly, hemmed in by bushes, and then beyond this "strait" broadened considerably, so that the middle of the middle was an island on which many moorhens and wild duck rested. He remembered this from the previous year, leaping closely the small stretch of water beyond the strait to practice a difficult figure so that he might trouble about music to anyone.

Taking Viola's hands in his, he said in a voice that almost trembled: "Miss de Roelafort, shall we skate once round the pond before we go home?"

"Go home, Dr. Richardson?" she echoed. "So soon? Why? I could stay for hours!"

"I could, but I thought if it would be good for you," he replied. "Never mind, though, that sunset promises well for tomorrow; I don't imagine we're to have another yet, and you may often run across me again."

Viola had made a very steady convergence, I admit, but shall we skate?"

Hands crossed, their skates clashing together, they glided round the pond until they came to the little narrow piece of water. "Through here," said Anthony, and they passed through together.

Again they swam till they came to the far side of that little island where they were completely hidden from any prying eyes, and there Anthony abruptly halted. He glanced at his companion, who was looking at him with a smile of surprise at their sudden stoppage.

Still holding her hands in his own, "Viola," he said very low and gently, "will you listen to what I have to say?"

"Yes," she answered, lowering her eyes, and gazing intently at the ice before her.

"Dear heart," he began, "ever since I first saw you, I have wanted to kiss you, but I could not do it, and so saying Anthony abruptly halted. He glanced at his companion, who was looking at him with a smile of surprise at their sudden stoppage.

Larchwood, Algoma, Ont., Mar. 17. (Special)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills did me good and I want everybody to know it." So says Mr. Cyrus Correll, a well-known farmer living near here.

"I was sick for four months," Mr. Correll continued. "My trouble started from a cold, I suffered from Neuralgia, and had pains in my back. I was often dizzy.

"My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. I was tired and nervous and I had a nasty taste in my mouth in the morning. I slept deeply and slept poorly. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals, and there was a heavy dragging sensation across the loins. I had to drink Aloeanae by me, and I sent right off for two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"Before I had taken half a box I began to feel better. Now I want everybody to know how good I feel, and I don't know what I did it."

Mr. Correll's symptoms are all symptoms of kidney trouble. He struck right at the root of the trouble by treating the kidneys, with Dodd's Kidney Pills. He has had good relief, and got them at quick.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have a national reputation as a kidney remedy. Ask your neighbor about them.

WEAK, WORRIED WOMENCan Find New Health and Strength
Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. To do so is to ask the almost impossible. But, at the same time, it is the duty of every man to see that his wife takes care as much as may be, and to build up her strength to meet any unusual demands. It is a duty she owes herself and family, for her health may depend upon it.

To guard against complete breakdown in health the body must be kept rich, red and pure. No other medicine does this so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This medicine acts quickly, new, red blood strengthens the nerves, restores the appetite and keeps every organ healthfully toned up. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep their strength and keep healthy by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have done more to lighten the cares of weak women than any other medicine. Among the many women who have written to the manufacturer of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Milan Bailey, Utterston, Ont., who says: "Two years ago I got weak and badly run down, and scarcely dare to leave home. I grew sick and my friends used to comment upon it. At that time my baby was six months old and the care of me and my house-work was almost too much for me. I was at this stage when my husband got me a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before I had been taking them long we could see an improvement in my condition. Recently I had a bad stroke, but with an unnatural sleep returned and I wasn't nervous. Then my friends began to comment upon my improved condition and let me know much better. I was so pleased. By the way, I have taken six boxes I felt completely cured, and have since enjoyed the best of health. Now I never fail to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any one in need. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Flu Takes Heavy Toll

Winnipeg, Man.—Vital statistics issued show that in the province of Saskatchewan during the month of December, 1918, there were 1,46 deaths from Spanish influenza, which is at the rate of 1.5 per 1,000 of the population. This brings the total number of deaths from this cause up to 3,072 for the province for the three months October, November and December, the death rate being 4.6 per 1,000 of the population for that period. The treacherous nature of the disease can be well understood when it is realized that during the whole of the year 1918 the total number of deaths in the province from all causes was 5,139.

Holland Climate Disagreeable

Geneva.—It is reported from Basel that the former German emperor has complained against his residence in Holland. It is asserted that he has declared that the climate is disagreeable, and that he desires to go to the Riviera or Egypt, on account of his health, and that he has requested Mathias Erzberger, head of the German armistice commission, to make representations to the allies to this effect.

Cattle on the Ranges

"Cattle on the ranges are as fat today as they were in October," said the district ranch inspector, who is making a tour through the southeastern part of Alberta. "There is no danger now of any great loss of cattle no matter what the weather turns out to be in March. Every rancher and farmer has some hay, and very few have done any feeding as yet. With the cattle in such good condition they have every show in the world to pull through easily until the new grass comes."

Getting the Habit

Shorthorn Steers Hold the High Record for Canada

Shorthorn steers are getting the habit of breaking price records in the open market. They hold the high record for Canada, and during the past year they have broken Chicago high price records on more than one occasion. They also hold the high price record for range steers, and early in December a load of Shorthorn yearlings, averaging 1,131 lbs, sold at $20 per cwt, which is the high record for yearlings on the open market. About a week later, a load of 1,332 pound Shorthorn grade steers sold at $20.50 per cwt, another high record for the open market.

At the Denver Winter Show, held in January a load of Shorthorn yearlings shown in the feeder division by Weiss Bros, Elizabeth, Colo., were sold for $207.50 per cwt, the record price for feeders, outselling the Herford grand champions $8c per cwt, and as they weighed 865 pounds, 70 pounds more per head than the champion load, they brought $18.50 per head. Another load of senior yearlings, Shorthorns, the reserve champions, exhibited by Weiss Bros, weighed 964½ pounds and sold at $19 per cwt.

There is a reason why Shorthorns are appreciated by feeders. Note the weights of these steers. Those extra pounds, accompanied by quality which commands top market prices when finished, mean extra profit for the feeder.

More Winter Coming

Port Arthur, Ont.—According to some of the Indians at Nipigon there will be lots of winter yet. Recently it snowed heavily all day there. Several Indians were in Port Arthur with their dog teams, and one said, "Will be lots more snow, and lots more blowing coming." Wintry and stormy weather may be expected during the month of March.

MOTHER! DON'T TAKE CHANCES IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If cross, feverish, sick, bilious, clean little liver and bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty themselves, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, sick, bilious, clean little liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of California Syrup of Fig*, then don't worry because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few days the inflammation passes away. It is a safe and reliable compound poison sour bile and ferments.

Waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside" cleaning should be given.

It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.
